School Is Just Around the Corner

It seems like no sooner than we get the summer schedule working well, it's time for school to start. Take advantage of the last weeks of your child's summer vacation and do something fun. Maybe even let the kids plan the event; you might be surprised at what they can come up with on their own.

Adoption/Kinship/Foster Information

Adoption Support Group

The Adoption Support Group at The Aurora Mental Health Early Childhood and Family Center is a parent-facilitated support group. The facilitators have many years of experience with foster and adopted children, as well as with their own children, some who have had special needs.

This is a free group, and childcare is provided. Families meet on the 2nd and 4th Monday evening from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at 11059 E. Bethany Drive in Aurora, Colorado, 80014. Families bring in food for a potluck dinner.

Anyone who is interested in the group can contact Kim Wilson at 720-937-2376 or Angela Becker at 303-808-4568.

Help Create A Competent Provider Directory

Parents for Ethical Adoption Reform (PEAR) will be creating and providing two new directories to the public in the fourth quarter of 2009. One will be a National Mental Health Provider Directory that will include licensed child/family therapists, camps, respite care facilities, therapeutic day and residential schools, and programs that are known to work with adoptive families or have knowledge about adoption, institutionalization, and/or prenatal substance use issues.

The second directory will be a National Therapist Directory that will include licensed therapists (such as occupational therapists, craniosacral therapists, or others) that are known to work with adoptive families or have knowledge about adoption, institutionalization, and/or prenatal substance use issues.

Both will be updated quarterly. PEAR is inviting the public to suggest providers with whom they have had experience. The following links each have eight open-ended questions to add basic contact information.

Air Force Offers Assistance with Adoption Expenses

With thousands of children available for adoption in the United States alone, and with adoption fees that can reach well into the thousands of dollars, Air Force officials are helping ease the initial financial obligations for those military families opting to adopt.

Through the Adoption Expense Reimbursement Program, parents using a legal adoption agency may be eligible for up to $2,000 per adoptive child, with a maximum reimbursement of $5,000 in a year, for qualifying expenses. Developing Parent-to-Parent Support Networks

As part of the North American Council on Adoptable Children (NACAC) Community Champions Network project, NACAC, with the assistance of effective parent groups across the US, developed a manual on developing parent-to-parent support networks. Voice for Adoption Many Faces, Many Families

This November, Voice for Adoption (VFA) will once again highlight families adopting children and youth from the foster care system, in their annual Adoptive Family Portrait Project. This year's theme is Many Faces, Many Families; VFA hopes to highlight a range of families adopting foster children, including single parents or relatives who have adopted from the child welfare system and those adopting older youth or sibling groups. For information on how you can participate or help, contact Nicole Dobbins, Executive Director, by email at voiceforadoption@gmail.com or by phone at 202-210-8118.

Meeting The Mental Health And Developmental Needs Of Adopted Children

Evan B. Donaldson Adoption Institute has published a paper by David Brodzinsky, which represents the initial phase of a broad, long-term Institute project designed to shape best-practice standards that will assist adoption professionals in the preparation and education of adoptive parents. This policy and practice paper outlines best practices for preparing adoptive parents to meet the mental health and developmental needs of their children.

Medicaid

Medicaid Developmental Disabilities Audit

This information provided by Marijo Rymer, Executive Director, The Arc of Colorado

The State Auditor presented to the Legislative Audit Committee the results of a performance audit of payment controls over Medicaid services provided to people with developmental disabilities. The audit resulted from a legislative request urged by chapters of The Arc in Colorado.

The purpose of the audit was to determine whether payments (under the Home and Community-Based Services developmental disabilities (HCBS—DD) waiver for comprehensive services) were:

- Made only for authorized services
- Accurate, allowable, and timely
- Made only for provided services

The audit also reviewed the State's progress in addressing potential conflicts of interest for Community Centered Boards (CCBs) that provide both case management and direct services. The audit did not review the regional centers, Support Living Services (SLS) or Children's Extensive Support (CES) waivers, or state general fund programs for persons with developmental disabilities. However, the state auditor, Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF), and Division for Developmental Disabilities (DDD) acknowledged that findings from this audit will be used to improve payment controls for other programs. The audit did not review non-billing related aspects of the HCBS (Comp) program such as needs assessment, service plan adequacy, eligibility determination, case management, quality assurance, or wait list management. The audit time frame covered Fiscal Year 2008—the first year of the fee-for service comp waiver.

Key findings:

- DDD does not have adequate systems in place to ensure that service plan lines are accurate and complete regarding service frequency.
- DDD's practices for selecting service-requests for review are inadequate. For existing clients, the Division's practice is to automatically approve, without review, all requests for amounts of services that fall below certain threshold levels. DDD did not base its thresholds on best practices or, where available, clinical standards or service; DDD has no documentation of the process used to develop and set the threshold levels; DDD did not consider risk when setting thresholds to review services that could be prone to over or underutilization.
- DDD cannot provide an adequate basis for its service approval or denial decisions.

COCAF E-Newsletter August 2009

- DDD has not ensured that reviewers have adequate qualifications and skills to make approval and denial decisions.
- DDD does not conduct post payment reviews to ensure that claims are paid only for services that were actually provided, allowable, and delivered by qualified Medicaid providers.
- DDD has not provided sufficient monitoring and oversight of the payment control system as required by the inter-agency agreement with HCPF. DDD has not provided CCBs with adequate guidance or upfront internal monitoring to identify necessary improvements.
- HCPF has not adequately monitored DDD's fiscal administration of the waiver program.
- The current system for the DD Comp waiver in Colorado presents the potential for conflicts of interest for the CCBs. For example, DDD and HCPF have not implemented a plan to address the recommendations of the University of Southern Maine study completed in December 2007.

Recommendations for addressing the eight findings were presented to DDD and HCPF. Both departments agreed with the audit findings and indicated timelines to act on recommendations ranging from July 2009 to June 2010.

Karen Beye, Secretary of the Department of Human Services; Tim Hall, DHS Deputy Director for veteran's affairs and DDD; Sharon Jacksi, DDD director; Dr. Sandeep Wadhwa, State Medicaid Director (HCPF); and Barb Prehmus, Director for HCPF long-term Care Services division responded to the audit findings, provided general outlines of plans to address findings, and answered questions of legislators. There is no public testimony at the Legislative Audit Committee.

To access an electronic version of the report, go to www.state.co.us/auditor. Surveys

Adoption Birthparent Contact Survey

If you adopted an unrelated child from foster care, your input is needed for a survey on post-adoption birthparent contact. Michelle Roberts, a foster and adoptive parent herself, is doing a graduate thesis on post-adoption contact in foster care adoptions. Even if you have had no contact with your child's birthparents, your input is valuable to the study.

The online survey takes less than 10 minutes to complete and contains no identifying information. As a special thank you, you will be entered into a drawing for a chance to win a $100 gift certificate to the store of your choice. Please take a moment to help with this study. Go to www.AdoptionStudy.org for the online survey or contact Michelle at meroberts2@eiu.edu if you would prefer to have a paper survey mailed to you. Your help is greatly appreciated!

PEAR Survey

Parents for Ethical Adoption Reform (PEAR) is conducting an "Observational Survey of Adoptive Parents on Success, Satisfaction, and Types of Post-Adoption Services." This survey will remain open all summer and results will be published in the fall. You can access the survey at:

<http://www.zoomerang.com/Survey/?p=WEB228Q6QUGVM6>.
